HISTORICAL

I N the beautiful city of New Haven, Connecticut, and within easy walking distance of the schools of Yale University, is the Dwight W. Blakeslee Training School, easternmost of the training schools of the Woman's Home Missionary Society. Started in 1906 as a school for training deaconesses, it has furnished to the churches many faithful workers. In time the scope of the work broadened and young women were received who were not candidates for the deaconess order but desired training for various departments of church and social settlement work.

In 1918 the Board of Managers voted to establish a training course for college graduates and to incorporate, as the major requirement, graduate study in Yale University leading to the degree of Master of Arts.

In 1920 the building adjoining the one occupied for so many years was purchased, thus doubling the capacity of the school for carrying on its work.

In 1921 the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church received the school into its family of National Training Schools, thus insuring the permanence of its operation and the maintenance of the high standards of its intellectual and spiritual training.

For young women who are college graduates and seek further training for leadership in the work of the church and at the same time to secure a Master of Arts degree at Yale University an opportunity is offered. An increasing number of graduate students are availing themselves of this opportunity. In the year 1924-25, five graduates of colleges were registered; and for 1925-26, nine graduates with the B. A. degree, representing seven colleges are enrolled. We are moving surely onward, and the signs are favorable for a still larger enrollment for next year. A limited number of high school graduates may still be admitted. These students have one year of study in classes in our own school building and two years in the classes of the Yale Divinity School taking courses under the faculty of that school with practice work in settlements and churches.

The school will complete twenty years of useful service in June, 1926. The world has been blessed by the work of its graduates and former students who did not graduate, a large number of whom may be found serving their generation in various fields of Christian activity.

THE EMILY A. BENNETT LEGACY AND MAPLETON

As reported by our treasurer, Mr. Arthur E. Rutledge, the final step in settling up the estate of Mrs. Emily A. Bennett seems to have been reached, as a result of which we are now in possession and have the sole title to the two pieces of property in Sandy Hook valued at $3,000 also 14 shares of Westinghouse Electric 7% cumulative Preferred stock together with 55 shares of Westinghouse Common. All of this stock has a par value of $50.00 per share making a total of $3,450.00. The market value, however, is $73.50 per share on Common or a total of $4,042.50 and $83.00 for Preferred, a total of $1,162.00, making $5,204.50 the present market value of the dividend paying stock. The annual income from this stock on the present basis is $49.00 from the Preferred and $220.00 from the Common, or a total of $269.00. In addition to this the sum of $554.24 was received out of which certain charges against the estate have been paid. Mrs. Bennett in her will indicated the purpose to which the income is to be applied, viz: the promotion of deaconess work. This would mean keeping the property in suitable repair and the carrying on of such christian activities as come under the general term, "deaconess work". "She being dead yet speaketh".

GIFTS AND BEQUESTS

Unexcelled opportunities are opening up to the church for real constructive service in the world, and to women in every field of labor. It is essential, therefore, that such a school where training for vocational work for women in the church can be secured should be promoted in every way possible.

Larger equipment and a more adequate income is necessary if this school is to fulfill its mission in training workers.

The investment of money in higher religious education for women will bring large interest in service to the world.

FORM OF BEQUEST

I hereby give, bequeath and devise to the Dwight W. Blakeslee Memorial Deaconess Home and Training School of the Methodist Episcopal Church in New Haven, Connecticut, incorporated, created, organized and existing under and by virtue of the State of Connecticut, with its headquarters in New Haven, Conn., the sum of
